

LOCAL ITEMS.

Mr. Jesse Butin returned home from Kansas last week with his family, who had been visiting relatives in that State.

Miss Alice Candy, a pretty little Columbus girl, as sweet as her name implies, is visiting at Rev. Burns' this week.

Miss Bessie Ward, an accomplished belle of New Lexington, is visiting her grandmother, Mrs. John McBride, this week.

The Trustees of John Kasher's estate offer valuable property for sale, advertisement of which appears elsewhere.

A camp meeting of Baptists will be held at Judge Wright's grove, at Millville, commencing August 2d.

John Weltner, of Good Hope, is announced in the Gazette as an independent candidate for Commissioner.

John Gallagher tried to keep it a secret. It is a boy, and John is just as proud as can be, and is getting well of his rheumatism.

Mr. Sandford Bowmley, of L. Ekbert, spent a few days among friends in Logan last week.

Mrs. Chas. E. Cole, after an extended visit to relatives in Perry county, returned home last Monday.

Joe Rochester, who has been at the Magnetic Springs for some weeks past under treatment for rheumatism, has returned home much improved in health.

Fred Eisele, of Baird's, was in Logan last week, on business connected with the Furnace. We see by the papers that Fred is a candidate for Auditor in Perry. He is fit to fill the office, and if nominated will be elected.

The Collins & Moore building is rapidly approaching completion. It will be the largest dry goods room in the Valley, and one of the handsomest business houses in the State.

Tom Shotwell's house is a curiosity. It has forty corners, is unlike any other house ever built, but from a casual observation, it will be, when finished, the most convenient house to live in in Logan.

Mr. Enoch Collins' new house on the Pond plateau is rapidly approaching completion. It will be when finished one of the most handsome residences of our city.

Judge Finckel of Mansfield, brother of Dan Finckel of our city, visited his relative, Mr. Troxel of Millville, last week. On Thursday Judge Wright and Major Carlisle of Lancaster, and their families went down to see the old gentleman and spent a pleasant day with him.

Miss Mary Beck, one of the handsomest little girls of Lancaster, is visiting her cousin Mary Gould, and together the little Misses made a call at the Sentinel office, bringing a sparkle of joy and a shower of sunbeams into the dingy sanctum. The little Misses are invited to come often.

Mr. Samuel Lee, of Starr, is one of our model subscribers. He called to see us last week, and perhaps realizing that some of our thoughtless subscribers who have sold their wool, forgot their subscription to 1886. We hope Mr. Lee will live and enjoy health, as we know he will have an easy conscience, when he hears us complain of subscribers who are far behind as he is ahead.

Rev. Burns held a very interesting religious service in front of the Court-house on last Sunday evening. The meeting was well attended. A few ill-trained dogs barking on the street, and a crowd of bad-mannered boys beating drums, interfered somewhat with the meeting; but dogs and drums will soon be quieted. The good people of Logan will not be interfered with again in their religious exercises by either.

Open Air Meeting.
An Union Religious Meeting will be held in front of the Court House next Sunday at 6:30 p. m. Rev. Hart will preach. No evening services at the Presbyterian and Methodist churches.

Ex-Postmaster Case.

Mr. W. F. Case retired from the postoffice on last Saturday, taking with him the hearty approbation of the entire public for duties well and faithfully performed in the office. He was always prompt and obliging, and by his thorough knowledge of the duties, served the patrons of the office with marvelous skill and dispatch.

Mr. Case entered the postoffice as clerk in 1872. The then Postmaster, Fritz Rempel, having been involved, abandoned the office, and Col. Rempel was appointed, Mr. Case taking the position as clerk. During the eight years of Col. Rempel's administration, the mail service of this county was greatly increased and the country around Logan, as a center, better accommodated than any locality in the State.

In this work of advancing the facilities of prompt, frequent and reliable mails, Col. Rempel was ably assisted by Mr. Case, and when in May, 1880, Col. Rempel resigned, the appointment of Mr. Case as the Postmaster very properly followed.

For the last four years Mr. Case has been the general manager, assisted by D. N. Dawley, Will James, Myron Pond and George Work, all of whom were excellent, obliging and gentlemanly clerks, and who, each in turn, aided to keep up the high standard of the postoffice.

Mr. Case was entitled to the second term by all the usages of the Democratic party, and by the avowed principles of a Republican Civil Service. He was recommended by the almost united support and approval of the patrons of the Logan postoffice.

Mr. Case, however, has the satisfaction of knowing that the public whom he served so faithfully approve his course, and with a free election and a fair count, would have been reappointed.

Mr. Acie O'Neal, of Starr twp., has the thanks of the Sentinel office for a basket of big red apples, specimens of the fruit grown in his orchard. They are the finest apples that have been placed upon our table this season.

The rain will not effect the crop of candidates.

Lawlessness in Logan.

The Order of "The Sons of Veterans."

WHENCE, AND WHAT ART THOU?

ED. SENTINEL:
It is hard for me to say anything that may reflect on the fair fame of the community of which I am a member, with which I have been identified from childhood, and in which my dearest interests are concerned.

But we have reached a crisis in Logan, where silence on the part of the law-abiding, Sabbath-keeping citizens becomes assent to the viciousness that scoffs at law and celebrates its shame in open day; where the lack of some active movement to check it makes the good citizen participate in its crime.

For months our community has been scourged by the lowest class of female characters; harbored in dens of infamy and protected from the operation of the law by the men to whose voices they pander. Emboldened by impunity, they carry their outrageous conduct to that extent, and advertise their business so openly that some portions of our town have become almost uninhabitable by respectable people, and property, save for infamous uses, unsalable. It is almost impossible for decent women to pass through these neighborhoods without being subjected to the grossest insults on account of their ribald talk and shameless behavior.

I premise thus much, Mr. Editor, not to connect it in anywise with what I am about to say, nor to compare the characters of the participants, further than to show by subsequent recital how vice unrestrained will infect the more decent portion of the community, until we forget that we are a Christian people and give ourselves over entirely to lewdness and Sabbath-breaking.

On last Sunday the people of this village were shocked by the outrageous performances of an order known as "The Sons of Veterans." They have been inoffensively obscure heretofore, known only by reason of their incessant drumming and mustering. But not content with this tame excitement and pining for the pomp and circumstance of glorious war, they gathered themselves together, and to the gallant roll of the drum, repaired to Rempel's Grove, where they put in Sunday slaying imaginary adversaries in sham battle, firing blank cartridges, and after the heat of the fight regaling themselves with lager beer. They returned Sunday night, marching through the streets preceded by marshals.

Now in the face of these facts it behooves the authorities of the municipality to ascertain by what authority they fly into the face of law and perpetrate this wholesale desecration of the Sabbath.

Is the rigor of municipal regulations ever relaxed in favor of the old veteran who oversteps them? If not for him who is willing to lay down his life for the government that gives them effectiveness, why for these so-called "Sons of Veterans?"

But whence is this organization and what is its object? Within the last four or five years there has been organized in this country a society known as the Grand Army of the Republic, consisting of the veterans of the late war.

Of this order I can only speak in terms of the highest respect. I would dishonor my sire if I did otherwise. It is made up of men who forsook all and without malice took up arms on a purely constitutional question.

It is no more than natural, whatever may be said of it from a political standpoint, that the men whose hearts beat in unison to the heroic music of the war, should seek to continue their intercourse and renew their dearly acquired experience by means of something of this kind.

From this society "The Sons of Veterans" claim to have sprung. The order is in fact a malus filius, born without license of the law or benefit of the clergy. Its object in life, so far as ascertained, and judging from recent developments, being to promote the facilities for organized "bumming."

But the real trouble, I apprehend, is its total want of an object. It's an old adage that "The devil finds some mischief still for idle hands to do." He will likewise furnish employment for the diversion of an objectless organization.

They have a pretended purpose, however, which seems to me hardly susceptible of a better defense than the one first mentioned, and that is the perpetuation through another generation and so on forever of the remembrance of the war.

Surely the coming generations have something better to do than to stand guard over this charnel-house of memory! If it was the sad duty of our fathers to inflict these wounds, it should be our proud duty to soothe and heal them. Ours shall be the triumphs of peace, and it is for us to cover the unsightly trophies of civil strife with the tokens of goodwill and brotherhood.

If by the seeming harshness of my remarks I have hurt the feelings of any member of this society, I can only say, that, while I regret it, this seems a case that requires a drastic remedy. I am aware that many good men belong to this order, and I trust they were not responsible for what occurred last Sunday, but as the performance was conducted in the corporate name, they will come in for their share of the disapprobation.

A SON OF A VETERAN.

A surprise.
Ewing, O. July 23, '84.—The 28th anniversary of Mr. Charles Brandt's birthday, was celebrated at his residence Saturday evening, July 26th. The friends and relatives of Mr. Brandt took an early start to his home on Charle, and so the word went out, the good wife of Mr. Brandt took an active part in the affair and made due preparations to give her husband a grand surprise. About 6 o'clock in the evening the crowd began to gather, coming from all directions, until there was 75 assembled, all bringing baskets well filled with delicacies and substantial, such as cakes, chicken, pies, bread and a variety of other things with plenty of pickles for the young folks. A large table was spread in the yard which was beautifully ornamented and lighted with lamps.

After the crowd had arrived they immediately took possession of the house and made ready for supper, and kept a look out for Mr. B., as his better half persuaded him to go to Logan that day. She going along as to bring him home at the proper time, about 7 o'clock. It was announced that he was coming, the crowd met him and greeted him, he was completely surprised, he did not know what to say, or whether he was at home or not; everybody could see by his countenance that he had completely surprised him. I see among the crowd Mr. Phil Marks and family, of Fairfield Co. About half past seven supper was announced, your humble servant was invited to the second table. There to see the feast of good things, all the appetite could desire. After they had all partaken of the bountiful supply, the old folks returned to their homes, while the young remained for the evening enjoying themselves in different kinds of amusements. All were well pleased, and hoped that Mr. and Mrs. Brandt may live long to enjoy many more birthday parties.

The Logan Dramatic Company is preparing to produce the highly entertaining and moral temperance drama, "Ten Nights in a Bar Room." This piece has been played in this town by amateur talent with marked success heretofore, and the dramatic genius that has already been displayed by the members of our home dramatic society is an earnest of what we may expect in the production of this sad and touching play. The audience will be put in a good humor at the close of the entertainment by the jolly, side-splitting farce, "Man Moev," or "The Household Annoyance."

We have been creditably informed that the statement of the Adelpi Border News, relative to Eli West, is not correct. The Border News, when discussing public men, should keep close to the facts, and should not misrepresent Mr. West nor mislead its newspaper exchanges. Mr. West is entitled to fair, square dealing, because he is that kind of a man himself, and when a paper professing to give him a paper, puts him wrongfully before the public and misleads its contemporaries, a correction is in order from the paper making the mistake.

We long to hear from the Border News.

Important to Teachers.

The following is a partial list of the subjects to be considered on the first day of the Hocking County Teachers' Institute.

1. How to teach U. S. Bon's.
2. How to teach infidivites.
3. How to get up an interest in the History class.

The Institute will begin on Monday, Aug. 11th, promptly at 10 o'clock. The program for Tuesday will be announced at the close of the first day. It is desirable that all teachers be present at the beginning of the session, as classes will be formed and recitations begun on the 1st day.

Fair Premium Lists.

Billy Acier, of this office, has taken a contract to print 2000 pamphlets of premium lists for the ensuing Hocking county Fair.

The premium lists will have a general circulation among all the best farmers in the county, and will afford an excellent medium for advertising.

Lost and Found.

On last Monday Alonzo Fine-frock, from Black Jack, came to town and sold his wool. He got enough money to pay a few debts he owed and buy some needed provisions. He went into McCarthy's and bought a lunch and paid for it. Then to Kitts Miller's for some groceries, when he discovered that his pocket book was gone. He hastened back to McCarthy's, but no one there saw it.

The poor fellow was nearly distracted by the loss. He was sure he had been no place but at McCarthy's, and he was equally sure he had laid his pocket book on the counter, and equally sure also that some one there had picked it up.

Before starting on his forlorn trip home he accidentally stepped in at Harrison's, where he was recognized by one of the clerks, who asked him if he had lost his money. Imagine the poor fellow's delight and surprise when his pocket book was handed him.

He had been in the store, made a purchase, paid for it, took it with him and left his pocket book on the counter, and forgot all about it.

He went home rejoicing.

Pat Wynn has returned from a pleasant visit among friends and relatives in the East, highly delighted with his visit, and full of pleasant recollections from his intercourse with the friends and public men he met. He reports that the political situation is most encouraging, and that the election in November will result to the benefit of the workmen and that English laws, syndicates, Corporations and corrupt parties will not always oppress the workmen of this country.

In a notice published last week relating the progress of the post office war, we stated that an attempt was made to secure the action of the G. A. R. Post in opposition to Mr. Purcell's occupancy of the post office.

This statement was based upon information from a member of the Post, and we naturally thought it reliable. We have since been informed that the member of the Post giving us information was in error, and that no action of the Post as a body was contemplated. The action of the soldiers was purely a personal matter, for which the Post is not accountable, nor responsible.

OBITUARY.

Mary E. Wright was born in Lackington, Ohio, December 22d, 1839, died at her residence near Logan, July 23d, 1884, aged 44 years and 7 months; was married to Edward Wade, Sept. 6th, 1857. She was faithful, consistent, Christian life; never wavered in her Christian faith; and nurtured at the severest pain. She was a fair full wife, a loving mother, loved and esteemed by all who knew her. Her highest ambition was to serve her Master and see her children walk in wisdom's ways. Her illness was long and severe, but borne with Christian patience and endurance without a murmur. She was perfectly ready and willing to go at her Master's call, and after enduring four months and three days of suffering she calmly and peacefully fell asleep in Jesus to awake and behold the beauties of Heaven. She leaves a husband and nine children to mourn her loss. She was a zealous worker in the Church and Sabbath School, and her loss here will be realized as well as in the home circle.

The funeral services were held at the Mt. Taber Church, July 23d, at 4 o'clock P. M., conducted by Rev. Geo. ...

Mr. Thomas Lanning, of Ewing, fell from a building at Mr. Marks', last Monday and received a fracture of the left leg, about six inches above the ankle joint, one bone passing out through the skin. Dr. Dollison was called to the case and reports that Mr. Lanning is doing well.

Mrs. Maggie Kiro, (nee Keller) of Lancaster, visited her friends in Logan and the county, the past week.

The Great Reduction!

Have you heard of it? If not, read this: Cabinet Photographs, hitherto costing $5, for 10 cents. Large size Photos, before costing $5, for 10 cents per dozen. Because I have lowered my prices, don't think for a moment that I am going to reduce the quality of my work. There are those who would have you believe so, but first call at the gallery and examine the samples—see for yourself that these pictures are just as good as you can get anywhere at any price.

One man says, "The very image of me!" another, "The first picture I ever had that suited me!" and the everyday remark is, "How very nice!"—How can you afford to make them "cheap?"

How or why I am making these pictures so cheap, should be a mystery to you, but you should know that I have no more of the occasion while it lasts. Let me say to you that I am taking just as much pride in this work as I do in any other. It is in vain to all that no money is made at these prices. I of course, have an object in view, and that is to get the best of the public to get me Photographs of yourself and all your family.

As we cannot afford to loose the price of a cabinet picture, I have decided to work at these rates, and as the Cash system is the true way to do business, I have decided to accept the terms of sale, and deferred payment, with all to pay when the sitting is made, so please come prepared.
